Results That Remain

Are Appreciated by Norway People.

Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one kidney medicine that has earned a reputation for lasting results and there is plenty of proof of its merit right here in Norway.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago and now makes his testimony even stronger.

M. M. Kilgore, Danforth St., Norway, says: "I had backache and rheumatic pains for more than a year, caused by disordered kidneys. My kidneys acted irregularly and I was so lame and sore across the small of my back I could hardly stand. At night I rested but little and was feeling miserable most of the time. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at F. P. Stone's Drug Store and a few boxes cured me." (Statement given July 24, 1908).

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Whitehouse and their entire family of five children being present, Byron Whitehouse, wife and son, Elden Whitehouse and two sons, Lincoln and Clyde, Leslie Whitehouse and Emily Whitehouse, North Bridgton Ridge, Harry Whitehouse, wife and son from Richmond, A. H. Whitehouse and wife on whose grounds are some of the roadside gardens, Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Chadbourn, Martha White, North Bridgton, Mr. and Mrs. K. Shedd, Lee Lord, Mrs. Mattie Lord and four children, Marion, Gladys, Ruth and Eva of North Waterford, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jones, Sweden. Mr. and Mrs. George Marr, who are in Portland were unable to be present. Mrs. Marr was the only one missing from the family of seven children, all of whom are living.

The morning was passed with stories and reminiscences. Then came the wonderful dinner hour. All were children again. The custard pies were in demand the same as of old by the two children pie eaters, Edward and Byron Whitehouse. It was undecided which got the most. Then came the "uncomfortable pause," after which came stories and recitations by Mrs. F. O. Chadbourn, C. E. Jones and Mrs. Jones. The outside friends were Wm. Templeman and Philip Marsh, Boston, Mass., and Mr. Leavitt who brought Harry Whitehouse and family from Richmond village in his car.

One of the pleasant features of the day was a visit to the beautiful grounds of Messrs. Fox and Perry, two noted artists, who own and occupy the bungalow and whose grounds join. While Mr. Perry is devoted to flowers, Mr. Fox revels in the vegetable line. Seven years ago Mr. Fox brought five soy beans from Japan. Since then he has been growing them. He has tried five years and it is still fertile. He has enough now to plant an acre and has a large piece planted that is looking fine. He grinds them and then they are much used in bread and puddings. One day had one of their muffs made from the bean flour and pronounced it delicious. There were four beautiful flags on a line in front of Mr. Fox's grounds, colored and made by Mr. and Mrs. Fox. They were very beautiful. The first one on the line each day shows which of the Allies has won the latest victory. No flag out when Germans win a victory.

Mr. Fox has an original covering for his plants to protect them from frost and severe heat made of wire and canvas with an air space left by which the air passes through, which saves them from freezing in the most severe frosts. He had a man at work gathering the seeds of the Salisy while we were there. The average farmer would do well to get a few points from Mr. Fox which would be of great benefit to them, we think. Mr. Fox is a man of great intellectual powers and whom we should judge had traveled extensively. A great artist, a fine conversationalist and yet not afraid to soil his hands with hard work.

Picture were taken of the Ridgeway farm house, the group, the roadside gardens and the last, but not least of the family dog, Rip Van Winkle, who must be nearing 20 years and yet active and seemingly as much interested in the family affairs as ever. He certainly came in for his share of petting. Like Rip Van Winkle, we too are growing old, but our hearts are still young with the memory of happy bygone days and with hopes of better ones to come.

DOING GREAT GOOD

AT THIS SEASON

A superlative blood-purifying medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, combined with a superlative iron tonic like Peptonin, makes the ideal all-round treatment. No other medicines possess such curative properties as these two working together.

Two dollars invested in these two medicines will bring better results than four dollars spent in any other course of treatment or attendance. It will be wise to get them today.

SACO VALLEY MUSIC FESTIVAL

One of the greatest musical treats for the season is the Saco Valley Music Festival, to be held at Bridgton, August 6 and 7. There will be two evening concerts and a patriotic matinee. Such famous artists will appear as Madame Olive Fremstad, grand opera prima donna; Alice Nielson, one of the most popular concert singers before the public; Blanche Manley, a young opera singer, who is gaining much fame. Kate Douglas Wiggin will read a Rebecca story at the matinee and John C. Freund, editor of Musical America, will make an address. The Boston Sixette club will be the orchestra and will play accompaniments and selections throughout the festival. L. B. Cain will be the conductor and as he has conducted the festivals for the past six years, and this is his last festival before leaving to take up the work of musical director in a Conservatory of Music in Washington, especial interest is felt in the concerts.

One hundred men are also needed for Fort Slocum, to entrain between August 1 and 5. Both Class 1 men and 1918 registrants are accepted if able to qualify for general military service. If the required quota cannot be filled by voluntary induction, a selection will be made at the local board from Class 1 unless the list is exhausted, otherwise the 1918 registrants must furnish the number.

The local board will gladly furnish any information on the subject.

NEXT WEEK'S PLEASURES

The Chautauqua announces that the big five-day program to be brought here will start on Sunday of week July 21. It will continue for five days with sessions both afternoon and evening each day.

The war will be the big theme of the week. The program includes two great war addresses, the first on the opening night by Dr. Joseph Clare of Petrograd, Russia, whose subject is, "The Riddle of the Russian Revolution," and the second, Albert E. Wiggam, who comes the following night, and whose subject is, "Under the Stars and Stripes in France."

Dr. Clare is a British orator and churchman who has been serving for the past five years as pastor of the British-American Church in the Russian capital city. He was in Petrograd in the stormy days of the Revolution and he enjoyed while there the acquaintance of men who figured prominently in Russian affairs, notably, Rasputin, Kerensky, Trotsky and Lenin.

He will tell of these interesting world characters, of the Bolsheviks and of German intrigue and its parts in the present chaotic condition of the Russian empire. Russia is a riddle. And the news that seeps out of Russia these days is so scant and it comes to us through so many different channels that it becomes distorted and twisted with the result that much of it is meaningless, most of it inaccurate and little of it really represents actual conditions as they exist in Russia today.

And yet Russia is playing its part in world affairs and that part is going to be increasingly important. It is with these facts in mind that the Community Chautauqua are sending Dr. Joseph Clare of Petrograd here to give in his Chautauqua address a statement of conditions in Russia that will be dependable. He will speak on the opening night on the subject, "The Riddle of the Russian Revolution." Dr. Clare arrived in this country direct from Petrograd at the opening of the Chautauqua season early in June.

Another strong feature which the Chautauqua is bringing is Ralph Parlette, known through the Chautauqua and Lyceum world as one of the greatest men of the American platform. More than a million people have heard Parlette's great lecture, "The University of Hard Knocks," and it is a greater lecture today than when Parlette started giving it twenty years ago.

In the many times it has been delivered and the number of persons who have heard it it ranks second only to Conwell's great masterpiece, "Acres of Diamonds." Parlette is a philosopher and humorist. He does not try, however, to be a humorist, but he does things in a way that is distinctly different and original and that often bring a hearty laugh. Thus, before he knew or realized it, he became known as a humorist. Mr. Parlette is the editor of the "Lyceum Magazine," a magazine that is edited as he travels along, making over 300 lecture engagements every year.

The magazine, therefore, is edited on trains and in hotel rooms and wherever its editor finds an opportunity to work. Dr. Wiggam is one of the best known Chautauqua lecturers in the country. Last winter he spent two months in France observing conditions in France and England and he had the good fortune to spend a part of this time with some of the American boys in France. He will bring a special message to the mothers and fathers of fighting sons of the way the boys are living and working and engaging in the big task of making the world free.

Kilties Band is the big musical feature. It is said to be the greatest Scottish Band in the world. It has made a complete tour of the world, appearing in France, England, Scotland, Wales, Italy, Australia, New Zealand, India, Sicily, Burma, Ceylon, Hawaii, Arabia, Spain, Mexico and Egypt. They played by royal command before King Edward in 1904 on two occasions. Their world tour covered a period of more than two years. In Australia, the lowest priced seats were sold for $2 and the best seats were much higher. At the Crystal Palace in London, they played to 170,000 in one day.

They will play here on the fourth day of the Chautauqua, and they have the whole day to themselves. In the afternoon they give a popular concert and at night a grand double concert, featuring a bagpiper, and two Jamie Muir, dancer. Alfred E. Zealley, the conductor, who spent ten months in the trenches will have an interesting story to tell of his experiences.

Other strong features of the five days are the Fisher Ship Concert Co.; the Royal Hawaiian Singers and Players; "The University of Hard Knocks"; the Weber Male Quartet; and Wallace Bruce Amshary, in a lecture-recital, "Kipling, Master Interpreter of the War Spirit."

MOOSEHEAD FISHING NOTES SCENES AND SUGGESTIONS

All things must cease. Time and eternity excepted! And I bid farewell to Sugar Island at 2:05 p. m. Friday, June 28th. The log shows '63 fish have been caught: three lakies, 1 salmon, balance square tails, to say nothing of an eel. All but the latter were taken on a fly. Walter got several with bait and the biggest trout—2 pounds. You see I didn't get anything big and lost no tackle. Walter lost some rigging and a big salmon. We sent put three boxes of fish. I did not catch all that I sent home. Fully half the trout taken were returned to the water, being too small to keep.

In the past ten annual trips to Moosehead I never saw so many small trout as were taken this year. Small trout were everywhere in evidence—even at Caribou Point, half pound ones were numerous. This is unusual. Fifteen minutes of fly casting on any of the shoals or bars would bring up small trout—4 to 7 inches long. Few big fish were taken. A big fish is one that weighs more than three pounds and are prized by fly fishermen. Occasionally a salmon of 4 to 6 pounds is taken. I got no large fish. The largest with a fly was less than 2 pounds, but I saw several good ones come to the net.

John A. Owens of Rockland, Mass., got a four and a half pound trout on a Scarab Ibis. This is his favorite fly for big ones. He got several record fish. For big trout you fish differently than for small ones. They seldom come to the surface—especially this year. You drag the fly from one to two feet under water. It is slow and uninteresting to me, but it's the way to get the leviathans of the deep. Patient and persistent work from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. with one hour or so for dinner is the usual time devoted to fishing by the successful angler. Drag the fly under water with a peculiar "yank" until you get the fish or become tired and leave in disgust. It is not always so—as the larger ones will sometimes come to the surface as savagely as the small ones, especially so when there are several in the school feeding at the same time. Have seen it thus at Caribou when the limit of weight, 15 pounds, could be taken as fast as you could bring them to the net.

Charles E. P. Howe, 40 Innan street, Cambridge, Mass., had that experience this year. If you doubt it, write him. It is not this way every day, but it occurs often enough to keep every real fly fisherman anxious for a south wind and a visit to Caribou Point.

Henry Bartley of Greenville relieved me of $9.50 for storage of the auto, 19 days at 50 cents per day as agreed. Cheap enough! Henry is a good fellow and needs the money. He has two hotels, a farm and several autos and horses and the barons of the Great Northern Paper Company to look after as well as the arrivals and departures of all trains and boats at Greenville Junction. Busy man is Henry and it is a pleasure to pay him money and view the back bay scenery and shipping in this great inland port.

Capt. Smith, late of the Sea Bird Hattie, brought the auto to the Blethen House, Dover, where both proprietors and Mr. Emery extended the glad hand and I helped myself to matches in an industrious sort of way when registering. Everybody does this. The charm of that match safe contrivance is irresistible. I picked out nine matches and didn't cut my fingers. It was a praiseworthy accomplishment. Those nail heels need sharpening. The next time I come here, I'll bring a flat file and put those nail heads in shape to cut down the consumption of matches to the lowest point. The traveling public will probably then resort to the use of tweezers in fishing out matches.

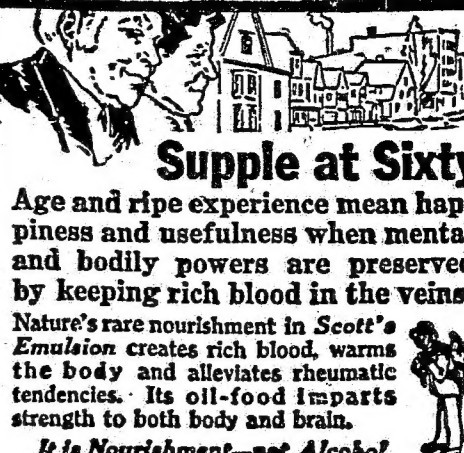

The barbers of Dover are independent fellows. I made an appointment with one to cut my hair at 8 o'clock the next morning—it being late at night when I called—and to do it then might work a hardship on him and perhaps break the rules of the union. I called at the shop at the appointed time and it was not opened, neither was the other shop and I amused myself in walking the streets and looking into store windows for a half hour until the shop door was opened. On entering I heard a rattling in the basement and sung out, "Here I am." I traveled the floor for some minutes, but the knight of shears and razor did not appear and I withdrew to meditate and look about in the street. The door of the other shop was closed. I soon ventured to the shop I had left to find the barber emerging from the dark recesses of the under world and to be told that he had "chores and things to do in the morning and he didn't care a damn whether he shaved me or not." With profuse apologies for disturbing him, I meekly withdrew, wishing I could be that independent in my business! But alas, I've been a willing slave to the public for many years and still continue to be. I take my hat off to the manly independence of irate Dover barbers!

Dr. G. P. Clifford of Houlton was met. He claimed to have recognized me by my voice in the other shop while I was having my hair cut. He, with wife and child, and an auto, were visiting relatives in Dover and elsewhere and were on their way to Norway to see Dr. H. P. Jones, with whom he learned his trade "before settling in Aroostook County where he has a good business and many friends—if it may be said that a dentist can have friends. He looks prosperous and said that Charles P. Barnes was a big man in Houlton. I wonder if the "big" is used in a political sense. We hear of him up this way as a busy lawyer and a republican boss who is to be returned to the legislature and become a candidate for the house speakership. Charles isn't dangerously bad, but some say he is in wrong on the water power business. I'd like to know which is the right course to pursue on the question of a "big" boy who has got his foot irrevocably into any of the political water-power bear-traps.

I called on Fish and Game Commissioner Willis E. Parsons of Foxcroft and gave him instructions in running his office and "trotting" fish that are striped at the State Hatcheries. Incidentally I intimated that fish would continue to bite and reproduce their kind as long as he kept out of politics and employed Miss Hoigren in his Augusta office. I was cordially received and introduced to Tim Pollard, whose shaky scrawl at the bottom of a warrant has sent dismay to many a violator of fish and game laws in the past quarter of a century. Tim is active and alert and as proud of the enemies he has made as when I first met him years ago.

Taken by Surprise.
July Fourth Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Reed entertained at their home, Sunny Hillside, Bell Hill, Mr. Reed's son and wife and daughter Gertrude and son Winfield; his aunt, Mrs. Emma Peaco, and cousin Elsie Peaco. There were more invited, but they were unable to be present. It was Mr. Reed's birthday and a bountiful dinner was served at noon.

There had been planned among his relatives, a surprise party for the evening, not even Mrs. Reed knowing. The guests departed early to get ready for the surprise in the evening.

Supper out of the way and chores done, Mr. and Mrs. Reed were planning to retire early, but about that time cow bells and automobile horns were heard coming from over the top of the hill, but as they thought it was a fourth of July celebration, they paid no attention until they were in the yard.

About nine o'clock the birthday cake with candles was presented by Mrs. Samuel Reed, his sister-in-law, the candles were blown out by the guests. Refreshments were brought by the guests including three kinds of ice cream and three cakes.

A pleasant evening was spent with music. Mr. Reed received some gifts, also money. His sister, Mrs. Jennie Cobb of Westbrook, sent money to be given him that evening. The party left about eleven, wishing Mr. Reed many happy returns of the day and wishing them both many happy and prosperous years in their home, Sunny Hillside. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Win Linnell, Otisfield; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reed and son Ellsworth and daughter Ella of Casco; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reed and son Winfield and daughter Gertrude of Otisfield; Mr. and Mrs. George Linnell and three children of Cambridge, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peaco, Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Peaco, Elsie Peaco, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peaco and son Francis Stanley all of Otisfield.

Mrs. Susie Gammon, who has been staying at her old home for a while, fell down the cellar stairs. She was considerably bruised and shaken, but no bones were broken. She was able to go to her home in Norway after a few days' rest. It was a fortunate escape from what might easily have been a fatal accident. Quite a number from this vicinity went to the Red Cross dinner at Centre Lovell the 4th. It was a nice dinner, daintily served and enjoyed by the large number who partook of it. Right around two hundred dollars was cleared which will be a great help in getting materials to work with. All those who so willingly helped supply the food for the dinner are deserving of many thanks.

Save Fuel Wisely

Saving fuel is working hand in hand with the Government these days. And one way to save wisely and well is to use SO-CO-NY—the quality gasoline. It means minimum consumption and maximum power.

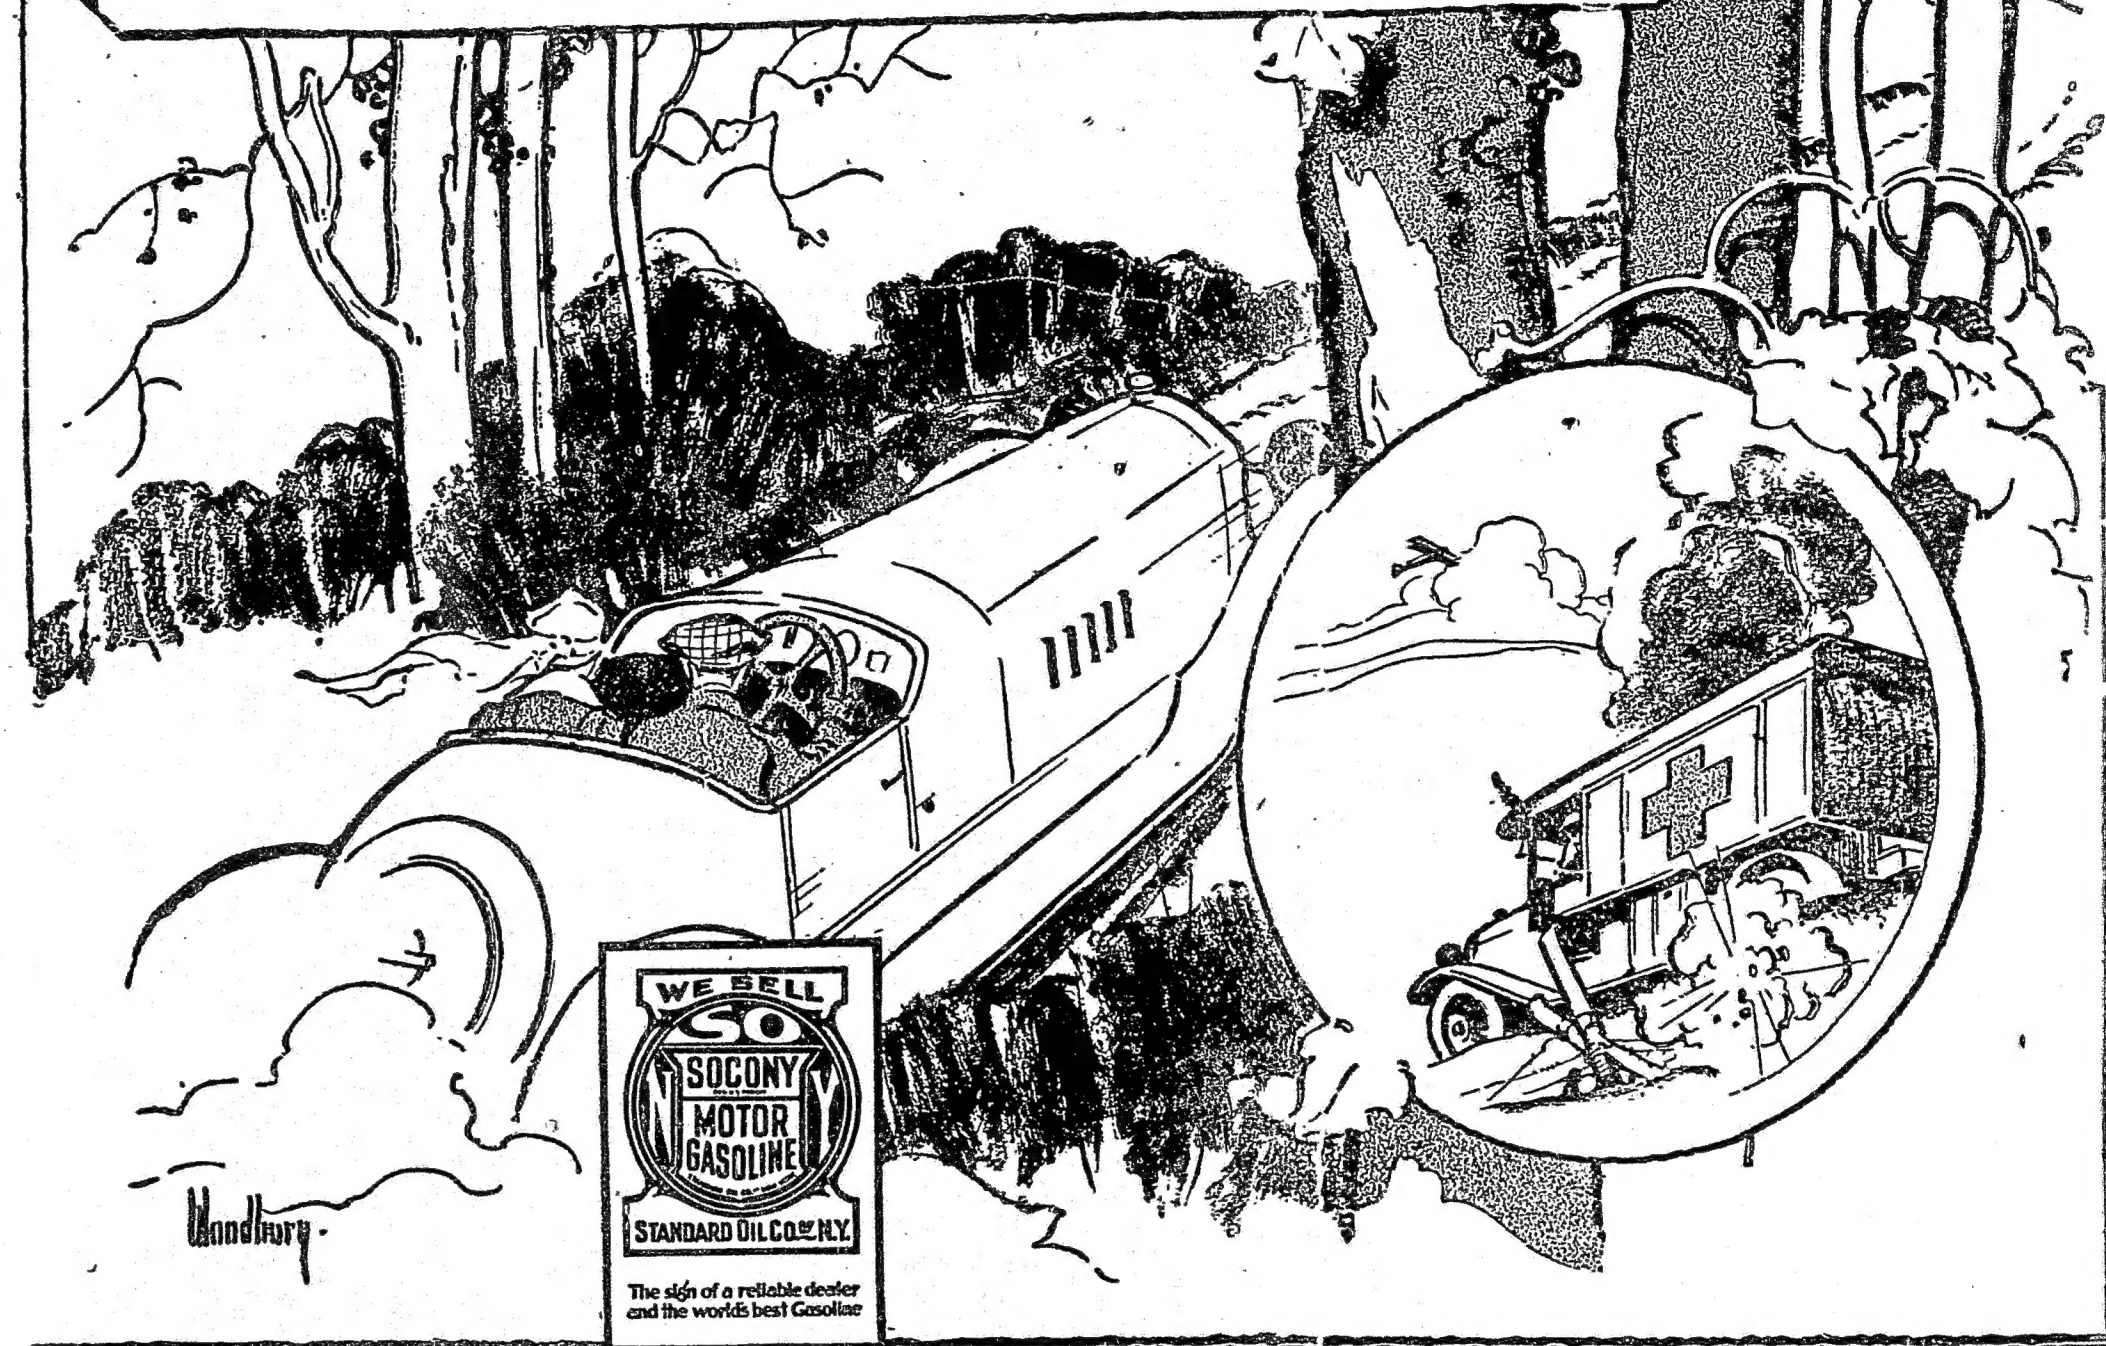

Inferior, low-grade mixtures mean waste in the form of increased consumption, lost power and excessive carbon deposits.

There's power in every drop of SO-CO-NY. It's clean, quick starting; reliable; obtainable everywhere.

Look for the Red, White and Blue SO-CO-NY Sign. It's the wise way to save fuel.

WAVING STILL

Today I watched our soldier boys
As they stepped aboard the train,
Where sadness mingled with our joys
And tears they fell like rain.
"You're going to fight the Germans,"
I heard the preacher say,
As he gave the farewell sermon
To the boys that went away.
"You've answered now your country's call,
You go to fight the Hun,
"Tis true that some of you may fall
As other men have done.

"But should you chance to perish
There in that foreign clime,
Your name, it will be cherished
Until the end of time.
And said, "Your country's calling you
And you'll be brave I know,
And may God's blessing follow you
To the boys that went away."

We know that they will gallant be
And bravely meet the fight,
They go to fight for you and me
For a cause that is just and right.
Today we rise up one and all,
Our swords will never sheathe,
Shall we allow our flag to fall
Not while we live and breathe.

Far across the stormy sea,
They'll find, like lions we will send,
And fight unto the end.
Our prayers they go out near and far,
By God, may we be blessed,
And keep our good America
The richest and the best.

We love thy fields and templed hills,
We love thy flowers sweet,
We love thy woods and mountain rills,
Thy vales and valleys deep.
When that yonder setting sun
Shall fall to sink behind the hill,
And you and I with life are done,
May our old flag be waving still.

The two college ladies, who have been boarding with Anna Cummings at the Hunt's Corner home, have returned to their home in Hyde Park, Mass.

No having done last week. It rained about every day and lots of thunder and lightning.

Arthur Andrews, Alta Cummings and Mrs. Andrews and two daughters went to Lewiston one day last week. Mrs. Andrews has a brother, Perley Grover, in the hospital there with a broken arm, who has been suffering for several weeks. He is reported to be gaining.

Rev. Charles C. Paul of Springfield, Mass., who preached here at the Corner one year ago this summer, came back to us again Friday, July 12, and preached his first sermon July 14th. Everybody was glad to welcome him back.

One year ago last fall the Churchill brothers of Mechanic Falls bought the old farm formerly known as the Stephen Cummings farm and moved onto it. Arthur the oldest brother was a married man and had two small children. He had a broken leg and had been in the hospital before he moved into town. The youngest brother, Forest, who had to stand the blunt of the battle, was drafted and had to leave his brother and sick family and started for the war Friday with only a few days notice of his departure. We shall miss him for he was almost the only young man in this school district that we could hire for a day's work. This seems to be the worst time of year he could have been called, just paying time. His sister, Mrs. Teague of Portland, is taking care of Arthur Churchill's wife, who has been so sick, but is much better at this writing.

Henry Spring and Mr. Greuther of Roxbury, Mass., have been visiting Abel Andrews' family. They all went fishing and got a good string of trout.

Herbert Bean and daughter of Lewiston were at the Corner last week.

Laura Cummings, who has been a nurse in Lewiston for the past three or four months, is now at home taking her vacation.

Water Powers in Maine

Of the various methods employed by the advocates of State ownership of water powers to bolster up their claims, none is more persistently adhered to than the possible advantage to be obtained by the application of electricity for heating purposes.

In spite of the fact that all scientists concur in the statement that heating by electricity from any source of power, either by water power or steam, is impracticable on account of the excessive cost, and in spite of the evidence of actual tests of heating houses by electricity proving utter impracticability on account of high cost; these advocates assert that somehow, sometime inventors may discover some new method by which this desired end may be accomplished.

These advocates would have the State develop water powers in anticipation of this longed-for discovery.

But there is an impassable barrier in the way of this utopian dream.

Hydraulic engineers already have perfected the efficiency of water wheels to a point exceeding 90 per cent of their possible power, and electrical engineers have perfected generators to a point exceeding 90 per cent of possible efficiency. This proves conclusively that some other method than the development of water powers must be sought in order to heat our houses by electricity.

On the other hand the utilization of the power contained in coal has been developed only to the extent of 20 per cent.
under most modern equipment used for power purposes.

Water powers, owing to the much greater initial cost for development over steam plants, have in the possibilities of increased efficiency of coal a competitor to be feared, and this fact is recognized by every intelligent owner of water powers.

Do the people of the State of Maine wish to plunge the State into the expenditure of unknown millions of dollars without careful and thorough investigation?

BEFORE
Breakfast

The best time to get the full benefit of a laxative or cathartic medicine that also stimulates the digestive organs, as this one will do, is to take a teaspoonful an hour before breakfast and drink a glass or two of water at the same time. The stomach is then entirely empty and the cleansing action of this good home remedy, the "L.F." Atwood Medicine will give you a fine appetite. Take another dose at bedtime with more water if you feel the need of greater action, or wish to overcome a constipated condition of the bowels. Prevent colds and rheumatic tendency with this money-saving remedy, the genuine "L. F."

The man receiving the letter, not knowing other's handwriting, supposed she was the other's writing at all and that letter.
